Autumn Ecstasy

The theme for this year's homecoming was "Autumn Ecstasy." Arrangements for the dance, which was held at Greenridge Country Club, were made by the Senior class. The colorful half-time festivities were directed by Don Steketee. In spite of a defeat by South, the enthusiasm of the student body was not dampened.

Cindy Drilling, Georgia Pedersen, Sue Ratliff, Rosey Kuiedk, and queen Pat Carlson.

Swimming and wrestling are sports in which the skill of individual participants determines victory or defeat. The individuals pictured on these pages worked hard and represented Union High in the finest way.

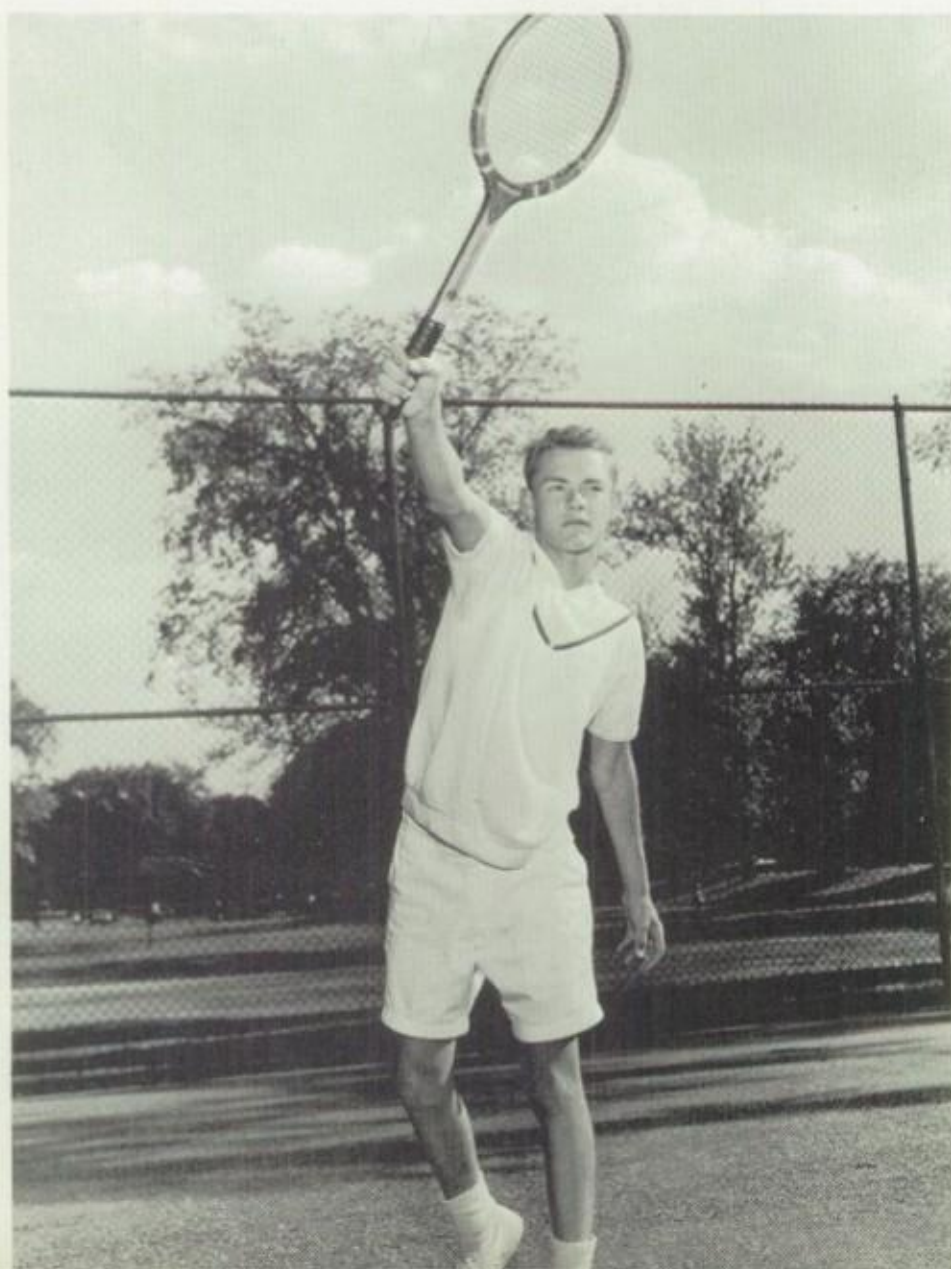

Hopes for a repetition of last year's triple crown in track were not high in early practice, due to heavy graduation losses. According to Coach Wavio, the final standing of the team will be determined by the amount of effort put forth. Returning lettermen who were expected to be high scorers again this season include the team captain, Dave Wilcox, Ken Hirth, and Denny Cuson.

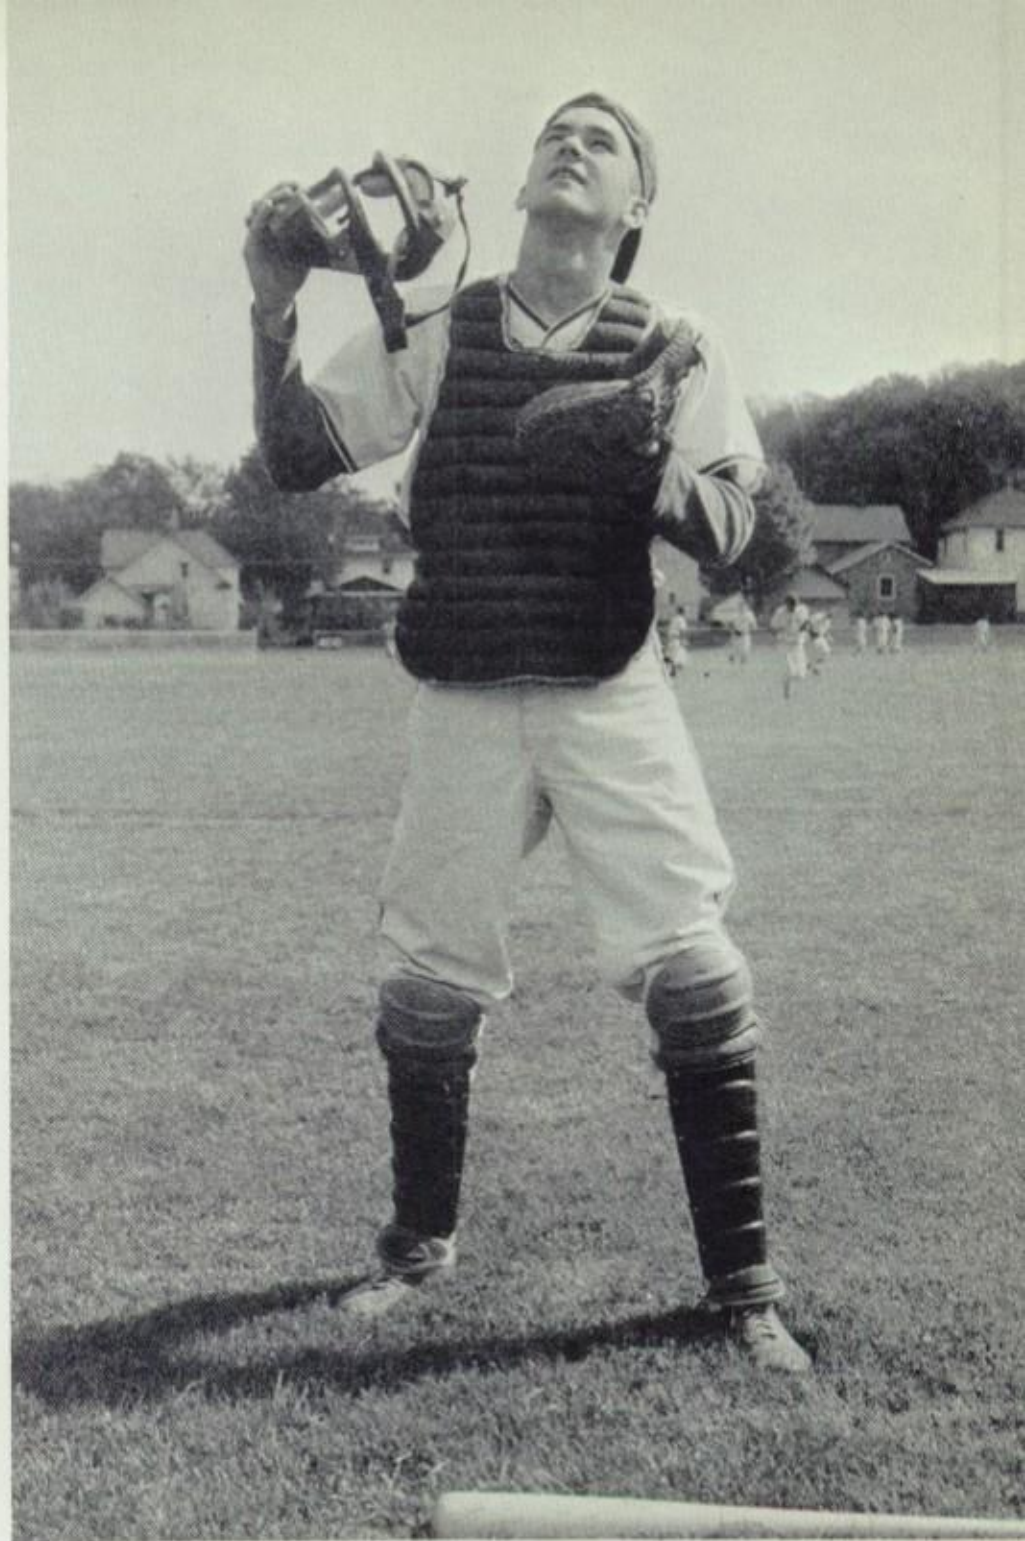

Spring finds the athletes of Union High engaged in many types of competition with other schools. Baseball, golf, and tennis matches occupy warm afternoons for both participants and spectators. Representing their various athletic fields are Ron Vander-Veen, Ed Major, Pat Holmes, Russ Ford, and Jerry Kangas.

Mr. Freeman, our principal, strives to encourage Co-operation among students. His aim is to promote a better relationship between students and teachers. He is aided by his knowledge as a former counselor and by his years of experience in service to schools.

Miss Wrisley is a counselor and friend of student and teacher. As assistant principal and director of curriculum she coordinates all the school activities.

Mrs. Zarbock, counseling secretary; Mr. Hoebeke and Mrs. Nason, attendance officers; and Miss Olson and Miss Barkley, office secretaries, are the backbone of our school. They can always be counted upon to do their jobs cheerfully, efficiently, and well.

Guiding young adults in choosing their courses of study and vocations are our counselors Mr. Galant, Mr. Lowe, Miss Feringa, and Mrs. Ambrose.

In their English classes, Miss Wray, Miss Carlson, Miss Wilson and Mrs. Young teach their students through literature, to use the experiences of the past to solve the problems of the present.

It is in the tenth grade that the focal point of English turns from grammar to literature and the first intensive study and real appreciation of the classics begins. Mrs. Terry, Mr. VanderLaan and Mrs. DeYoung evaluate one of the student's projects for the novel Silas Marner.

Mrs. Darling, Mrs. Hornbrook, and Mrs. Beardsley bring us a better understanding of the cultures and customs of the world through the study of its languages. They also advise Latin, Spanish, and French clubs.

*Bonne chance!

The ability to think and to say positively what you think is essential to success in life. Mrs. Allyn and Mr. Longberg help seniors in their English classes to develop expression and their own opinions.

Mrs. Smith, Miss Gorski, Mr. Groth, and Miss Schoen prepare students for high school by giving them good foundations in history, geography, and English.

The study of plants and animals is fascinating, especially when the teacher's personality helps put the subject across. Mr. Syrjala, Miss Karpinski, Mr. Huff, and Mr. Moerland all conduct their classes in a way that makes learning fun.

To be authoritative teachers in their fields of science Mr. Smelker, Mr. Weller, Mr. Vaughn, and Mr. Palmer must keep up with data which is constantly being assembled. Here they get together for a discussion on their subject.

Mrs. Shew and Mr. DeWitt teach classes in Algebra, Geometry, and Senior Math. They open new areas of theory and logic for those students willing to accept the challenge of advanced mathematics.

Mr. Needham, Mr. Pfahler, Miss Nisper and Mr. Myers help students to gain a working knowledge of numbers.

For students who want to go into office work, or just want a faster way to get homework done, Mr. Duncan, Miss Skurka, and Mr. Larson offer their services as typing and shorthand teachers.

Mrs. Cisler and Mrs. Weller provide experience in office techniques in their Office Practice and Book-keeping courses.

The purpose of the Home Economics department is training the homemaker of tomorrow. Mrs. DePuit, Miss Renshaw, and Mrs. Havlick draw from their own wide experience to provide students with basic cooking and sewing skills.

Mr. Minier is well-known throughout the school for his efforts to transform normally backward students into abnormally careful drivers. His success is due mainly to his ability and the students' high respect for him.

Mr. DeJonge, Mr. Muraski, and Mr. England help seniors to prepare for their future roles as citizens. Through their courses in Family Living, Economics and Government, they provide guidance and assistance.

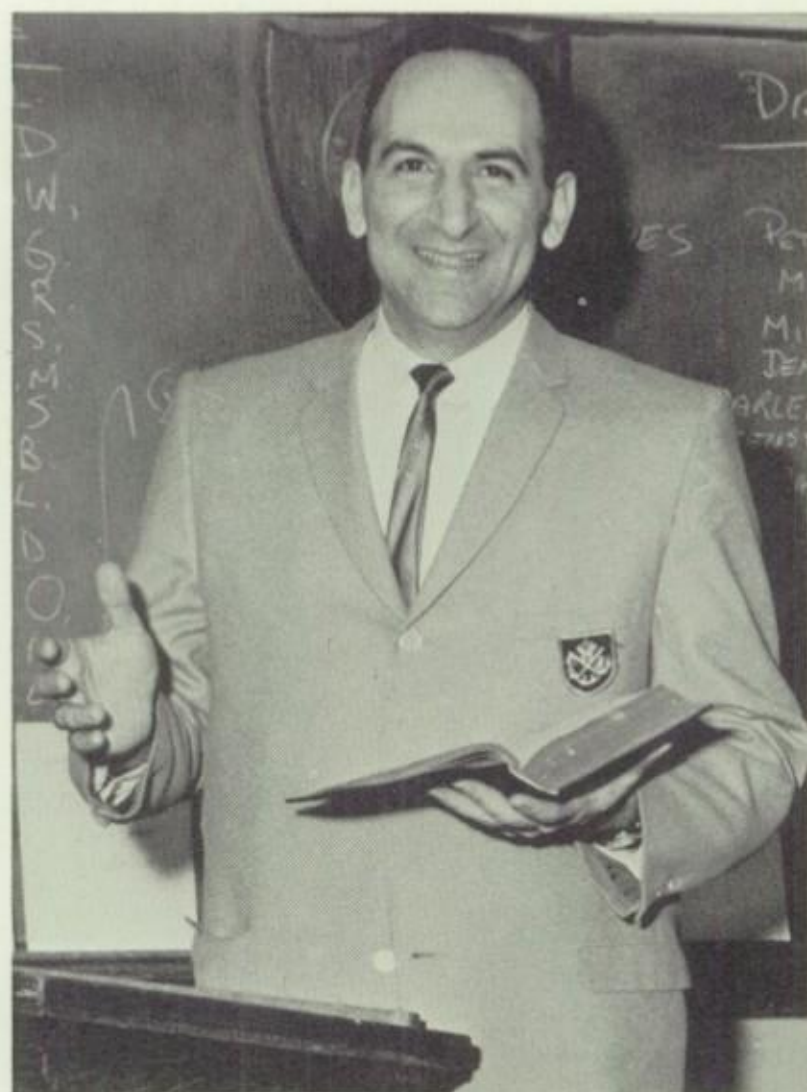

Mr. Nicolette shows Mrs. Shellman, Mrs. Driggett, Mr. Waivio, and Mr. Houston his choice of the many modern books now being considered for use in American history classes next year.

Mrs. Bullock and Mr. Hammer nurse the flame of talent in each of their art students. Not only do they teach drawing and painting skills but ceramics and sculptoring as well.

Mr. Bradley, Mr. Fryfogle, and Mr. Linderman are responsible for the musical accomplishments of our school. The Band, Orchestra, Choir and Glee Clubs are the pet projects of these teachers.

Mr. Azkoul conducts classes in speech, dramatics, and debate. He helps his students overcome their self-consciousness in self expression.

Mrs. Tiffany, Mr. Wright, and Mr. Fontaine teach the sight-saving and special education classes. Their work takes extreme patience and a natural sense of humor which their students appreciate very much.

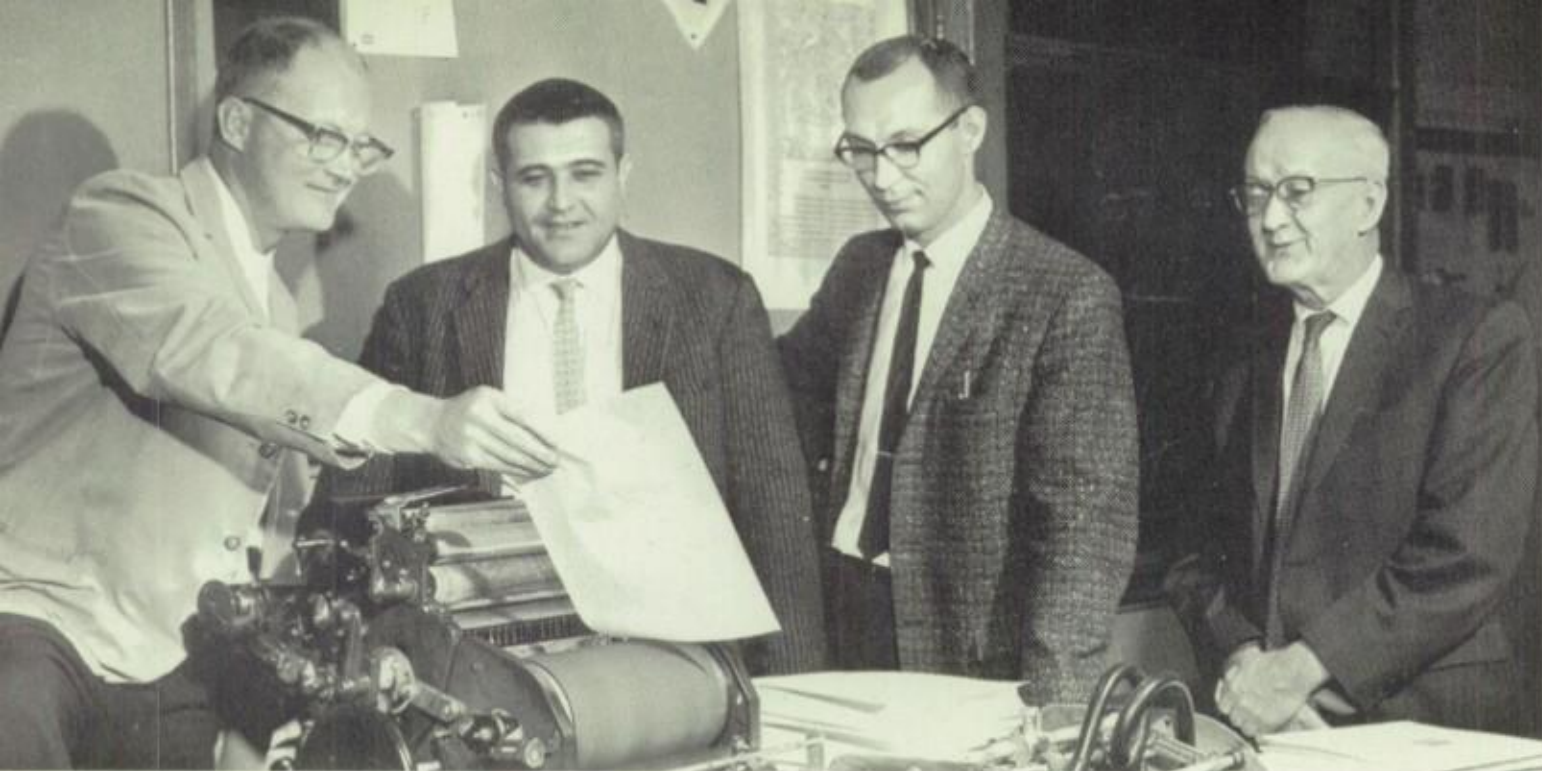

Miss Noble and Mrs. Garver are always ready to help a student with any problems he might encounter in his use of the library.

The study hall supervisors Mr. Wolf, Mr. Moeller, Mr. Lehn, and Mr. Kelly all double as school coaches. Their rooms provide a quiet hour of preparation for the busy student.

Part of the Industrial Arts department teaches printing skills and machine shop. Proofreading a copy of the school publications are Mr. Moerdyke, Mr. Savine, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Raver.

Along with exercising the mind, exercising the body is also important. Besides directing gym classes, Mrs. Black and Mr. Sukup promote good physical health through clubs and interschool teams.

Sergeant Jacobsen builds respect and discipline in his R.O.T.C. classes. Teaching this course is rugged work but satisfaction is obtained in helping to build boys' characters.

Mr. Cavanaugh, Mr. Sruba, Mr. Voyce, and Mr. Boyer examine one of the products in woodshop. Another duty of this department is teaching vocational furniture technology and electronics.

Keeping our school neat, clean, and in running order is a constant responsibility. Union's custodians manage, and are always on hand to help a teacher or student in mechanical difficulty.

Mr. Darin, Mr. Ethridge, Mr. Hyink, and Mr. Kostain.

Our cooks, Mrs. Bigordwski, Mrs. Radawski, and Mrs. Block manage to turn out delicious hot meals each day for hundreds of students.

Mr. Fauble, head engineer; Mrs. Ketchum, matron; Mr. Bowens, and Mr. Berkenbas.

The Junior High Student Council of Union High

Miss Karpinski, Junior High Advisor

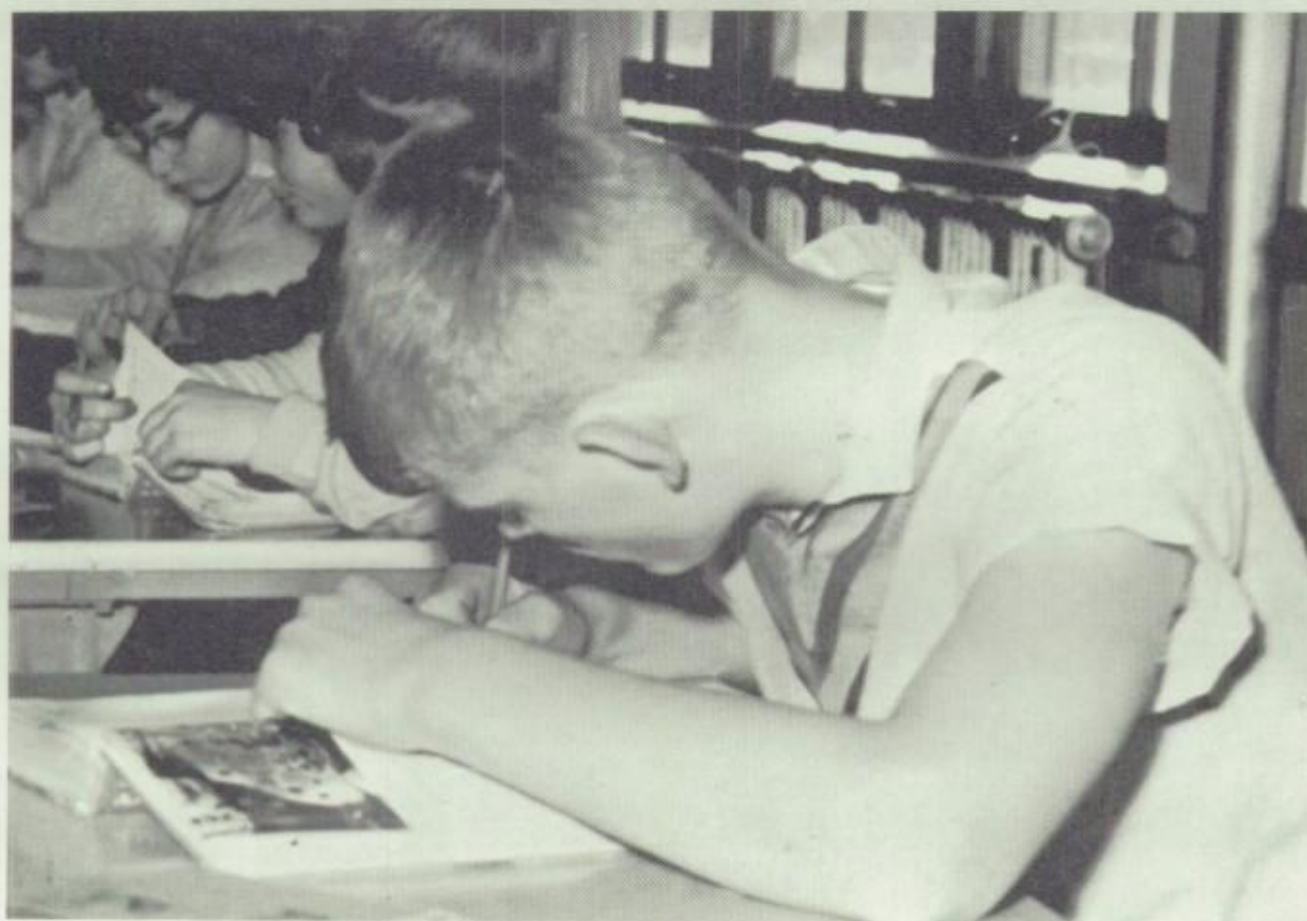

Sometimes I wonder . .

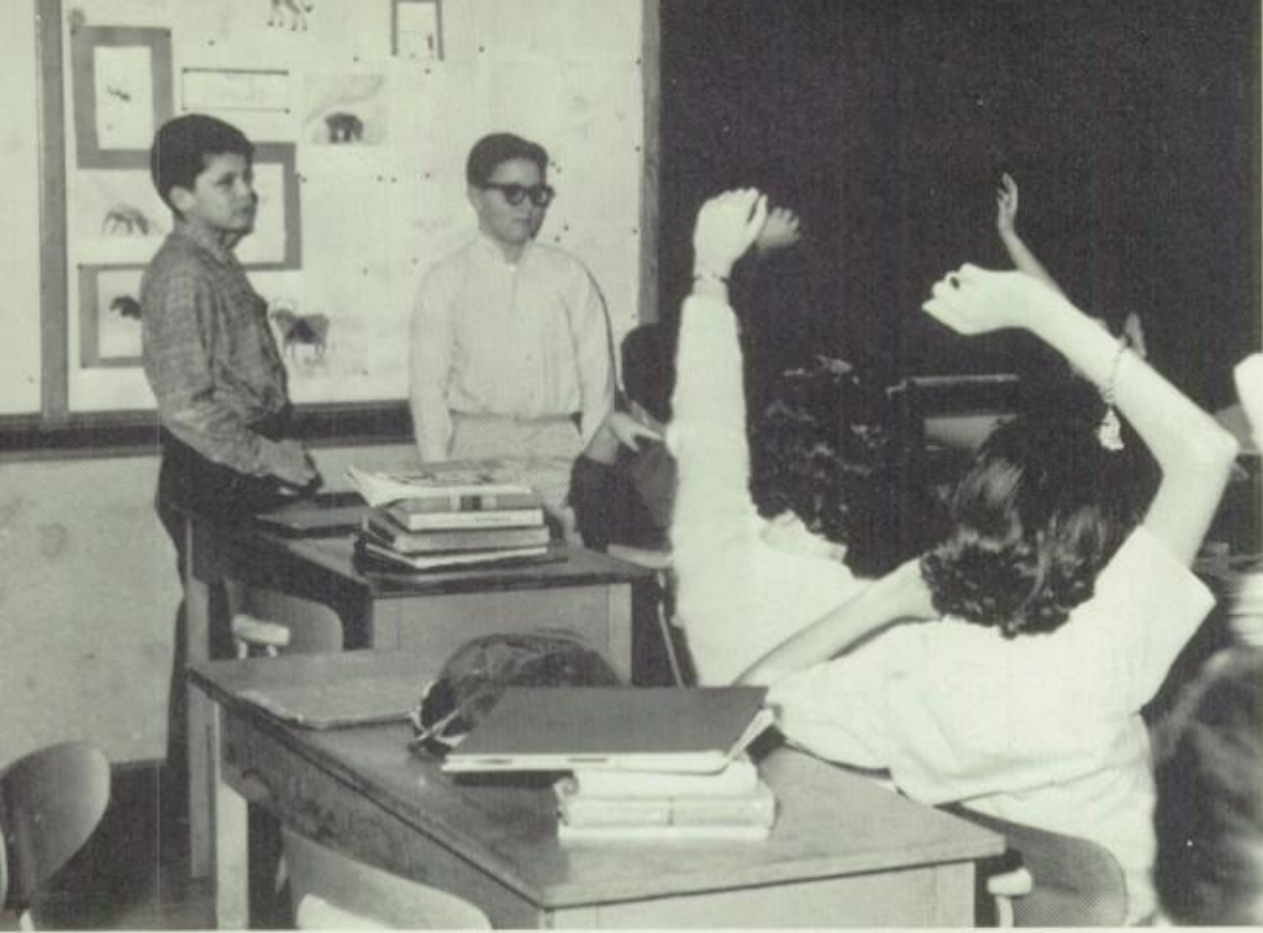

Only four more years . . .

Four plus four carry my three.

High school opens a new world to those in seventh through ninth grades, but they soon grow accustomed to the routine of classes, assignments, tests, and work in general. They also become acquainted with the many extracurricular activities at Union. These years contribute to their physical, mental, and emotional growth.

Best part of the dance.

Another exciting Junior poster

The fashionable after-game dance.

Another banana peel victim.

Ellen Jane,
 Well we're here at last from the ninth at Harrison to the twelfth here
 at good old Union. French and Econ. Day
 I hate to see them go (like much).
 You've been my buddy listening to me complain about Dick and other such things (Del). It's been a riot knowing you, and I hope you'll never forget the good ole times.
 Good luck at U of M. Watch out for the fellows
 This summer. Take good care of Tom.
 Hope to see you this summer.

Wow!
 It's been fun
 I'm homeroom this year. So I see you at the beach and take it
 E.T. Lots of Leech
 W. J. B.
 (Christmas)

Senior activities covered a wide range this year. In the fall, certain members of our class became beatniks for an evening to celebrate Halloween. A few weeks later, we begged, borrowed or stole bottle caps, street signs and black nylons to fulfill requirements for a scavenger hunt. In addition to our social activities, we spent many hours selling stationery as a class project. Santa Claus visited our homeroom Christmas party, bringing toys and candy canes to reward our efforts. As the year progressed, we spent several hours standing outside while police and school authorities searched the building for bombs. Following spring vacation, we spent a day in Chicago on our class trip. A few weeks later came the rush of graduation activities as our Senior year drew to a close.

We have been saddened by the death of four members of the class during our six years at Union. In loving memory of these friends and fellow students, we dedicate our section in the 1964 Aurora.

FAMILY 1 BUFI TUESDAYS

Ellen,

Sure, this is the time of year to get all misty and sentimental, boy, this is one Senior who's glad to be graduating! My only regret is leaving friends like you behind.

We've suffered through English and French together. Boy, what a combination. Who are you going to tell your problems to in college? I really hope that you get through your "higher education" safely. You'll just have to learn to do things on your own and build up your self-confidence. All I can do is wish you luck. Hope to see you in the coming years.

Ellen,

It seems our conversations the past year have been quite limited and therefore I am somewhat speechless now. However I suppose that I can give my wishes for your success.

Paul Quirk '64

Ellen,
It's been a lot of fun in English class hasn't it? Take care of yourself, stay happy and in the future years. Good luck

Orto (Blogs)

I don't mean to call you that but it comes natural.
I don't know what I would have done without you in study hall but I sure would have liked to try it. I resent you calling me all those names but I guess it's ok because I called you them back

Good luck (I don't really mean it but it sounds good)

Phil L.

Good luck, to a sweet and hardworking girl. You deserve it. I hope she can see each other again when we have both gained success maybe 10 yrs from now if not before.

It's been a long, hard was fun in future teachers, wasn't it? May you have nothing but good luck in the future and happy times.
